Press Release for Palos Verdes Schools

NATIONAL POLICE WEEK

Sunday (May 14) marks the beginning of National Police Week (May 14-20, 2023)

National Police Week in the United States provides a time to come together to recognize the law enforcement officers who lost their lives in the line of duty, as well as a time to honor the officers who serve and protect their communities each and every day.

On October 1, 1962, the United States Congress, in a joint resolution, established a week in May as Police Week. A proclamation signed by President John F. Kennedy officially designated May 15 as Peace Officer Memorial Day—as a way to pay tribute to all local, state and federal law enforcement officers who have been disabled or have died in the line of duty.

During National Police Week, the City of Palos Verdes Estates joins others in recognizing the brave men and women of law enforcement who risk their lives to protect our communities. And, most importantly, we remember our fallen brothers and sisters who so valiantly sacrificed their own lives to ensure the safety of others. The families, agencies and communities of those officers remain in our thoughts and prayers.

Government officials are directed to display the flag of the United States at half-staff on all government buildings on May 15. This is done in recognition of the service given by the men and women who work devotedly and selflessly on behalf of the people of this nation, regardless of the peril or hazard to themselves, and have safeguarded the lives and property of our residents. We thank all the police officers, service officers and PD personnel for their service.
